About The Institution of Engineers (India)

The Institution of Engineers (India), is a unique professional body encompassing 15 engineering disciplines and representing the interests of engineers on the global platform. Established in 1920 with its headquarters in Kolkata, IE(I) was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1935. It is the only professional body in India to have been bestowed with this honour.

IE(I) functions amongst professional engineers, academicians and research workers and provides a vast array of technical, professional and supporting services to government, industry, academic as well as to the engineering fraternity. It does so through over 100 Centres spread across the country and overseas. Currently, IE (I) has over 5 lakh members.

Since 1928, IE (I) offers a non-formal engineering education programme, successful completion of which is officially recognised as being equivalent to a degree in engineering and also post-graduate diploma leading to a Master's degree. Over 60,000 candidates appear in these examinations conducted biannually at a large number of examination centres all over the country and abroad.

About Maharashtra State Centre :

The Maharashtra State Centre of the Institution was founded in 1921. It covers whole of Maharashtra State. It is the largest centre of the Institution having around 17,000 members and 10 Local Centres.

The centre has been very active in promoting and diffusing the knowledge, information and technology for engineering application through programmes like Lectures, Seminars, Symposia, Conferences, Workshops, Training Courses, Technical Journal and Paper Meetings, Site Visits, Film shows, Presentations, Competitions and Exhibitions etc.

Library:

The Maharashtra State Centre of the Institution boasts to have updated library with latest collection of books, literature on various engineering aspects.

Background:

The Stockholm Conference of 1972, convened by the UN, can be considered as the starting point for environmental legislations in India. The first law enacted was Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974, after overcoming many statutory obligations. However this Act was not adopted by many States, but eventually fell in line and adopted when the parliament enacted Air (P & CP) Act, 1981. The Government, after realising that these provisions are not adequate, came out with Environment (Protection) Act, 1986, which is considered as an umbrella Act. This Act gave Government of India sweeping powers to regulate and control environmental pollution. The other Acts enacted by the Parliament are – The Forest (Protection) Act, 1980, The Wild Life (Protection) Act, 1972, The Public Liability Insurance Act, 1991, The National Environmental Tribunal Act, 1995, The National Environmental Appellate Authority Act, 1997, The Bio-Diversity Act, 2002 etc.

The Government of India took out many Notifications, under Environment (P) Act, 1986, to regulate environmental pollution, like Bio-Medical Wastes (Management and Handling) Rules, 1998; Hazardous Waste (Management and Handling) Rules, Municipal Solid Waste (Management and Handling) Rules, 2000; etc. The Environment Impact Assessment (EIA) notification was issued in 1994, making study of EIA for 30 categories of projects/industries. In 2004 two more categories were added i.e. New Construction Projects and New Industrial Estates.

Workshop Objective:

This workshop is arranged to educate persons engaged in the field of various environmental clearances and compliances from SEAC/MoEF/ High Rise Committee. Experienced / Eminent faculty from the Environmental field have been invited for the workshop. The workshop is expected to simplify the work of all concerned and will assist in preparing quality documents. It is expected to cover almost all practical aspects of environmental clearances and compliances including pollution control board requirements, procedure and forms etc. Large number of engineers, architects, planners, builders, developers and other stake holders can get an in-depth look into various aspects of Environmental Regulatory requirements. On each day, there will be four lectures of 90 minutes each, starting from 10 am in the morning to 5.30 pm in the evening, with breaks for tea and working lunch etc.
